

WE NOMINATE

The 32 members of the Friendship Club of Princeton, the remarkable women's service organization which returns to the community spotlight in the week ahead with its sponsorship the evening of March 26th of the McCarter Theatre appearance of baritone William Warfield. While the Princeton scene abounds with musical and dramatic productions, this upcoming concert—postponed from February by Warfield's illness—is a significant community event in that it constitutes another milestone in the 27-year history of an unseeking group founded in the depths of the Great Depression, sustained in its early years by its members' hard-earned dues and dedicated to "helping wherever we can."

The proceeds from next week's venture, the fourth major concert the Friendship Club has sponsored in the past eight years, will be earmarked for a far-reaching educational program which is currently supporting three outstanding college students, two in Bennett College (North Carolina) and one in Howard University. Over the years this little-known "institution," for 20 years an integral part of the N. J. State Federation of Colored Women's Clubs and one of the few Princeton clubs operating without benefit of any administrative overhead, has distributed nearly $10,000 to worthwhile enterprises, including $3,000 in scholarships.

Dollar-totals, as impressive as they are, don't tell half of the story of a unit largely composed of working wives, many of whom combine their own household duties with the demands of domestic service. For instance, in one World War II year, the members made cash gifts to 15 different organizations, furnished a recreation room at Fort Dix, "carried" hospitality programs to Camp Kilmer and worked with "shut-ins" in several New Jersey communities. In 1950 Friendship Club generosity made possible the club-inspired "Friendship Chapel" in Lolodorf, Cameroons, West Africa.

The spark of leadership since the club's founding in 1932 has been provided by Mrs. Bertha Hill Brandon, a Princetonian of over 60 years' standing, a resident of Green Street for the past half-century and still Friendship's president "somewhere in my 70's." The club was the outgrowth of a six-member group that helped Mrs. Brandon raise money at a First Baptist Church Pew Service for the Baptist State Convention. The sextette, according to the records, "decided it would be nice to stay together and do work for others in Princeton."

As Princeton came of age, the Friendship Club gradually expanded its always energetic program. The first (and possibly only) service club to contribute to the Social Service Bureau, it worked for the development of youth activities, shared Christmases with the aged, established scholarship awards in the Borough school system and gained membership in the Princeton Hospital Auxiliary. Seventeen short years ago, on the occasion of another benefit concert, it noted cryptically in its scrapbook: "The club made history with this event, since this was the first time this publication had ever printed Negro news."

For the inspiring record they have compiled in strengthening the Princeton Community; for constantly trying, in Mrs. Brandon's words, "to reach out to others"; for proudly pointing to the fact that "every boy and girl we have helped has made good"; these 32 Princetonians are Town Topics' nominees for

"DISUNITED WE STAND"

In Matter of Fund-Raising. A young Princeton woman spent better than three hours one day this month making house-to-house calls for a nationally-known charitable organization. From a list of 15 homes on a street where incomes are above average, she collected a total of $14.

The reception she received varied from sympathetic assistance and the resigned but polite attitude of the "captive donor" to outright irritation. "Fifteen dollars from 14 homes in about three hours is good work," a fellow volunteer told her enthusiastically. But the solicitor had averaged a scant 85 cents per call — and inadvertently, had made the going harder for every fellow canvasser who would inevitably follow her footsteps in the weeks to come.

It is a constantly growing chain of such experiences that this week resulted in a hard-hitting statement from the United Community Fund, operating in a town where charitable ventures are anything but united. Thomas P. Cook, long active in guiding the Fund and its predecessor, the Community Chest, put the matter squarely before the community:

The time has come to end the enormous duplication of time and effort involved in conducting numerous separate fund drives in Princeton. The United Fund is now ready to carry out the purpose of the 1957 reorganization; to conduct one campaign annually for all health and welfare agencies which solicit in Princeton and thereby eliminate the waste of both time and money resulting from a series of separate campaigns."

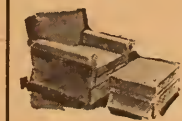

Following discussion by Fund trustees, it was unanimously agreed that the organization now including a dozen charitable and welfare agencies among its membership) will seek to enroll all other qualified enterprises of similar nature. These would include health organizations (March of Dimes, Heart Fund, Multiple Sclerosis, Cancer); the Princeton Red Cross Chapter; and all other fund-raising groups which meet with approval of the Fund's Budget and Admissions Committee.

Asserting that an "annoying multiplicity of small campaigns is plaguing the community," Fund trustees took immediate steps to implement their decision. Raymond A. Bowers, former president, accepted chairmanship of a committee to seek greater unification, pointing out that "the ultimate solution will be brought about when public attitude demands a change."

Competing for the Dollar. Walter H. Scott, the Fund's executive director, has cited examples of the ceaseless battle for a share of the charitable dollar. In recent months, he reported, Princeton business firms and residents have been asked for support from nine separate national health foundations. Their total take: approximately $50,000.

ing sought by the Princeton chapter of the Red Cross (one of the longest of all fund-raising agencies in this area in that it has met its goal each year for the past decade.) The Princeton Unit of Recordings for the Blind is another agency listed by Mr. Scott, who pointed out that additional organizations seeking nation-wide support may soon be expected to turn to Princeton, thus adding to the steadily-increasing conflict and annoyance.

His remarks were accompanied by the reminder that "the important thing to keep in mind is that all these 'causes' are good. It is only the method of achieving their financial objectives that has aroused unfavorable attitudes."

Ralph S. Mason, Fund president, warned of steadily-decreasing returns for the various drives — regardless of their worth to the individual and the community — if unification is not achieved. He reported that:

"The complaints from those who do the soliciting and organizing of these many separate drives is beginning to swell to a protest of indignation. The attitude of the — Continued on Page 2 contributors is just as vehemently expressed against the multiplicity of campaigns. Many business men and residents are annoyed and disturbed to the point of telling solicitors that this is the last year they will give to separate drives, and that they want these organizations to join with the United Fund.

Mr. Scott estimated this week that unification of all such campaigns with the Fund would result in a goal of approximately $200,000. (Last year's Fund quota was $190,000, a figure unachieved by some $10,000 but still to be credited from the sale of several thousand dollars worth of door prizes given to the organization when plans to award them in connection with the opening of the new University Store ran into legal obstacles.)

Fund President Mason pointed out that the present personnel of his organization, including a large and representative board of trustees and several hundred solicitors, "could just as easily do the job for every agency as for the 16 on whose behalf it now solicits." Given that broad a welcome, it will be difficult for individual charitable enterprises to prove to the harassed public in the future why its good will and good nature should be stretched to the point of no return.

ROUNDUP

SLEEP-UPS: The Stony Brook bridge on Mercer Road tripped up another driver this week. . . He is Frank R. Bush of New Brunswick who was driving a light pickup truck north on Mercer when he lost control. As he came over the bridge he side-swiped a car driven by Mrs. M. A. Miller of Whippany. . . After striking her car, he hit a Public Service pole. . . Mrs. Miller, slightly injured, was treated at Princeton Hospital and Mr. Bush was treated to a summer. . . In a brief, special Township Court session Monday, Leo Covacic of 441 Mt. Lucas Road was fined $5 in court costs and given a one-year suspended workhouse sentence on a disorderly persons complaint. . . Magistrate Louis Gerber presided.

Winter's hardest blow came late this year. . . Last Thursday, nine days before spring, the Princeton area received four inches of wet, heavy snow blown in by southerly winds. . . The amount that fell almost equaled the total for the whole winter season. . . Schools were closed in Trenton and some northern municipalities but Princeton children braved it all.

Those about to break the law may give it a second thought if DVFSP materializes. . . Borough Police Chief Raymond Mondone and Township Police Chief James B. Campbell went to Philadelphia Wednesday to attend a panel discussion on the Delaware Valley Fugitive Search Plan. . . The DVFSF is an inter-municipality police net designed to catch fugitives who stray into its meshes. . . The question: should Princeton's two municipalities join?

PROJECTS: Easter eggs are sprouting and crocuses are hatching and boys and girls are about to burst forth into Easter vacations. . . Borough and Township schools adjourn next Thursday, March 26, at 12:30 p.m. and reconvene on Monday, April 6. . . St. Paul's students leave school next Wednesday afternoon and return on April 6. . . Miss Fine's vacation will begin this Friday and end Tuesday, March 31. . . Princeton Country Day will dismiss its boys this Thursday and welcome them back on March 31. Meanwhile, boys and girls up to 14 are invited to the Eagles' Easter Egg Hunt this Saturday at 1 p.m. across from Princeton Country Day. . . Rain date is April 4.

Francis Alexander, his piano and his orchestra will play for the Princeton Business Association annual spring dinner-dance at the Nassau Inn on April 4 from 7:30 p.m. . . The Inn's roast beef buffet will provide food for F.B.A. guests. . . Tickets at $5 each are available at F.B.A. offices or from any member. . . Incidentally, F.B.A., an organization run by shrewd, profit-making businessmen, runs its annual dance as a "no-profit" affair. . . It may even take a loss. . . Newstands are now selling the first issue of "Golf," a new national magazine edited by Charles Price, 10 Bayard Lane. . . Any student, so long as he hasn't gone beyond high school, may take advantage of a 50 cents reduction in the price of seats to the William Warfield concert to be given next Thursday, March 26, by The Friendship Club. . . Tickets are available at the University Store.

POSITIONS FILLED

On Primary Ballot. Although they waited until the 11th hour to file their selections, both political parties will be well represented this year in the various races for municipal offices. Petitions received in Borough and Township Halls last Thursday, just prior to the 4 p.m. deadline, indicate that there will be no intra-party contests in April but that November will be a battle for virtually every office.

The lone exception is the lack of a democratic candidate for borough tax assessor. Republican Edward G. Warren is the incumbent.

A GOP office-seeker who was on the ballot for council last fall announced his plans to aim for a higher office this year. He is Jack Turner, Jr., member of the photographic firm which his father founded. Mr. Turner lives at 39 Hamilton Avenue.

Raymond F. Male, Democratic borough mayor whose first two-year term expires in December, will seek re-election. An executive assistant to Governor Meyner, Mayor Male lives at 74 Cedar Lane.

Republican Alfred E. Sorenson, 150 Patton Avenue, is the lone incumbent seeking another term on Borough Council. His running mate will be William H. Walker, 168 Westcott Road, who is associated with the architectural firm of Kenneth Kassler Associates.

The Democrats will oppose their first woman to seek a council seat in a decade, Miss Esther C. Dilworth, 73 Library Place. She will team with Kenneth A. Wells, 61 Harriet Drive, an executive with the Boy Scouts of America.

Democrat Gordon Waldron, 22 Wilson Road, incumbent tax collector, will run for a four-year term, following his appointment last January. He will be opposed by Theodore E. Stratton of 37 Wiggins Street.

Three Township Races. On the rotating basis that governs Princeton Township's five-man committee, two vacancies occur this year. Republican James G. Campbell Jr. will withdraw from political activity at the end of this year, but John S. Mount 2d, the other incumbent whose term expires, will be up for reelection. A resident of 118 Magnolia Lane.

TWO FOR THE RUNNING: Borough voters will decide next fall which of these two men they want for mayor. Jack Turner Jr., (left), the Republican candidate, will oppose Mayor Raymond F. Male.

Mr. Mount, is head of the Institute for Wage-Earner Opinion. His running mate will be attorney Thomas P. Cook, whose home is at 696 Princeton-Kingston Road.

Democratic candidates are Henry S. Dyer, 153 Jefferson Road, an Educational Testing Service executive, and Richard T. Frost, 80 Wheatstee Lane, member of the Princeton University faculty. Incumbent tax collector Walter B. Foster, 730 Princeton-Kingston Road, will be opposed by Mrs. Christina C. D'Arms, 940 Princeton-Kingston Road. Mrs. D'Arms is the Democratic candidate.

At the County Level. Two residents of Princeton were the key figures in last-minute maneuvering by the Democrats in planning their slate for the New Jersey Assembly. The choice lay between John F. McCarthy, Jr., an attorney who serves the Borough in that capacity, and Edward J. Sweeney, a union official at the DeLaval Steam Turbine Co. in Trenton.

Mr. Sweeney, whose home is at 15 Murray Place, got the organizational backing and Mr. McCarthy withdrew in the interests of party harmony, thereby averting a possible primary race. A lifelong Princetonian, Mr. Sweeney is a former president of the Princeton Democratic Club and vice-president of the Central Jersey Union Industrial Council. His candidacy marks organized labor's bid for more direct representation in Mercer County politics.

One other candidate from this area will be on the November ballot. Also a Democrat, he is Freeholder Richard J. Coffee, who has filed for a new three-year term. Mr. Coffee's home is at 17 Hendrickson Road, Lawrenceville.

PRINCETONIAN KILLED

In Sports Car Crack-up. A 23-year-old Princeton man was pronounced dead on arrival at Trenton's McKinley Hospital early Sunday after the MG sports car in which he was a passenger collided with a utility pole on the old Princeton Pike in Lawrence Township. The victim, Lawrence Neill Jr., of 16 Bank Street, was trapped beneath the overturned coupe after the crash.

The driver, John Venier, 21, of 32 Gulick Road, escaped from the wreck and was treated for severe shock at the hospital. The crash occurred about a quarter-mile north of Gainsboro Road as Mr. Venier was driving toward Princeton. Both vehicles were employed by a Trenton service station.

Lawrence Township police said the small red car skidded 45 feet and smashed broadside into the pole before overturning. Paint from the car was found seven feet up on the pole.

NINE LICENSES REVOKED

Under "60-70" Speeding Program. The New Jersey Speed Revocation Program, which has since January 1 resulted in the loss of licenses for drivers convicted of going ten miles an hour in excess of 50 or 60-mile limits, includes the names of nine more residents of this area.

Two Haddonville residents lost their privileges for 90 days as a result of excessive speeding. They are Alan D. Hendrickson, 9, Cold Soil Road, and Robert C. Simmons, 20, Denow Road.

Licenses revoked for 30 days were those of William E. Toto Jr., 18, 72 Witherspoon Street; Herman Cohen, 44, 172 Valley Road, Charles R. Stahl 38, 848 Stockton Road; Fritz B. Good 45, 60 Littlebrook; Willard A. Beling, 40, 104 Resell, Princeton Seminary; John H. Frazee, 27, Port Mercer Road, Clarksville; and Betty Griek, 24, 20 Lafayette Street, Hopewell.

FRA TO EXPAND PROGRAM

Fund Drive Set. Princeton Local No. 130 of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association announced plans this week to expand its year-old athletic and recreation programs to include parents as well as children. Funds for the program will be sought in the PBA's second annual fund drive, which will begin Saturday.

The drive, with a goal of $10,700, will open that night at the PBA's first annual sports awards banquet at Princeton Inn. Trophies will be presented to 20 boys and girls who took part in the association's youth program during the past year.

Patrolman John F. Petrone said the new parent-child programs will include marksmanship, tennis and archery. More than 300 children have participated in PBA youth activities during the past year, Mr. Petrone noted.

Patrolman Stanley L. Donald, chairman of the fund drive, said 70 cents of every dollar collected will be used for the sports and recreational programs. "Credit for the success of this program in its first year," he said, "goes first to the people of Princeton. We are confident Princetonians will give Local No. 130's 1960 fund drive the same fine support as in our first annual campaign."

The 1958 drive raised more than $7,000, Mr. Donald said. This year's campaign will be carried out entirely by mail. Each Princeton home will receive a First Annual Report, reviewing the PBA's activities during 1958, and a request for funds.

Brings spring into focus.

A GARDENER

For the statistically-minded, spring comes into focus Saturday at 3:55 a.m. Winter's passing will be little mourned, although it must be admitted that the past season's tenderness toward mean weather have been far less than most of its recent predecessors.

Fair and mild Thursday, the Man said—a real dilly of a day. Something like it Friday, but with increasing cloudiness and a chance of rain at night. Mostly fair, not so warm, for the weekend.

Serving with Mr. Donald on the campaign committee are Patrolmen Harry Kahny, Robert McAvonia, Fred Porter, Ralph Proccacino and Norman Servis. A campaign progress board will be erected in Palmer Square.

THEFT PREVENTED

At Choir College. A looter who was tossing hi-fi equipment out of a second-floor window of the Westminster Choir College Chapel Monday night was surprised in the act and frightened off by the college's audio-visual director, Kenneth R. Wight. About $735 worth of equipment, including a tape recorder, amplifiers, microphones and meters, was found on the lawn under the window.

Mr. Wight found the intruder when he went into the room to check the equipment. The thief escaped after a brief scuffle. He was described as a six-footer between 20 and 30 years old, with light brown curly hair.

Detective George Knowles and Patrolmen John Chasko and Richard Panicaro are investigating. About $1,100 worth of hi-fi equipment was stolen from the college four weeks ago.

$19,855 COLLECTED

Red Cross Goal 48 per cent Achieved. Over 80 volunteer workers of the Red Cross reported Sunday that $19,855 had been collected for the organization with $770 gained from house-to-house solicitation. Samuel M. Kind is chairman of the general canvass.

The special gifts division, under the direction of Miss Grace Whiteman, has collected $4847. J. S. Hanks, general fund chairman, has reported that Princeton business organizations, under the chairmanship of L. J. Linde, have contributed $9452. The campaign has reached its halfway point.

Red Cross executives include J. A. McFadden Jr., chapter chairman; Mrs. Carl Spidtmann, chairman of volunteers; Mrs. Mary

TALENT CALL

For Players' Spring Season. Singers, dancers, instrumentalists, tumblers. . . The Princeton Community Players are looking for entertainers to appear in the entr'actes of the melodrama planned for May production at the Alexander Street Playmill. Tryouts for the "Oleo" will be held March 31 from 8 to 10 P.M. Mrs. Herbert McAneny, acting president of the Players, responsible for the success of last season's "Belle the Typewriter Girl," will again direct. Non-members will be welcome at the tryouts.

Next Players' production will be the three prize-winning one act plays prepared for a Director's Workshop. The competing plays will all be presented at members' meetings before the April 17, and 18 public performances. Third in the series were shown Sunday evening, "Riders to the Sea," directed by Nanci Hierman, and "Trifles," under the direction of Helen Stokes made up the program. The plays were cast from Players' members.

PCD PLANS ANNUAL PLAY

Preparing for three April performances, the Dramatic Club of Princeton Country Day School will again present an original play by PCD teacher William Ackley, "Mr. Bottom," described as "the trials and tribulations of life in a naval military academy." is a three-act play with a cast of ten boys, requiring a sizeable production staff.

So popular have the PCD annual plays become among parents and relatives of the school that a Thursday performance has been added for the first time. The play will run April 16, 17 and 18. Directed by Mr. Ackley, the cast will include John Odden, Alfred Davis, Richard Crawford, Walter Edwards, Charles Stuart, Tom Reynolds, Ward Jandi, Ted Churchill, Joseph Smith and

THE PLAYHOUSE

"The Hanging Tree" (March 19-21) is a beautifully mounted off-beat Western, a perfect vehicle for Gary Cooper's return to his true meter after a pleasant, but unspectacular, sojourn in the land of light comedy. The no-expense-spared production is in Technicolor and Mr. Cooper's co-stars include Maria Schell, who glows luminously; Karl Malden, who drinks colorfully; and screen newcomer Ben Piazza. The story is set in a Montana gold-mining community in the 1870's, where Mr. Cooper serves as the two-fisted country doctor. He rescues Miss Schell, a wealthy immigrant girl who has been flung from her carriage and left to perish by the roadside, but he seems unmoved by her obvious devotion to him. Mr. Malden, an unsavory miner, tries to woo Miss Schell with all the means at his disposal, including drunken force, but she makes it clear that her cap is set on Mr. Cooper. Mr. Piazza portrays a young man who becomes Mr. Cooper's unofficial servant after the doctor saves him from hanging as a sluice-box thief.

Mr. Cooper himself is in danger of swinging from the hanging tree when his rescue-squad activities lead him to slay Mr. Malden when the miner attacks Miss Schell. The lanky medic is saved, however, when Miss Schell agrees to turn over her fortune as ransom for him. After this, he begins to realize that she is a true buddy, and the day seems — Continued on Page 6 nigh when they will journey to the parson's office to exchange "I do's" and "Yups." The screenplay was adapted from the Dorothy M. Johnson novel by Wendell Mayes and Halsted Welles. It was directed faultily by Delmer Daves and produced by Martin Jurov and Richard Shepherd for Warner Brothers.

The Journey (March 22-28) is Hollywood's first attempt to deal with the immense drama of the Hungarian revolution of 1956. The subject is a meaty one and Anatole Litvak's production is generally successful, although the screenplay by George Tibor is marred by too frequent-plot and dialog cliches.

The story concerns a group of travelers who find themselves stranded at the Budapest airfield just as the Russians are beginning their campaign against the insurgents. They are a mixed group, emotionally as well as nationally, and their varying problems come to the fore when they are placed on a bus bound for the safety of the Austrian border. Before they reach their goal, the bus is halted by the Russians.

The Red commander, played by Yul Brynner, is a hairless, brooding fellow who is attracted to Deborah Kerr, a titled Englishwoman who is among the bus passengers. She is torn between her revulsion at Brynner's overtures and her desire to help another passenger, Freedom Fighter Jason Roberts Jr. When it becomes obvious that the Russians plan an unhappy future for Roberts, Miss Kerr offers herself to Brynner.

The cast performs effectively although Miss Kerr, as always, is something of an acquired taste. Brynner is convincing as the sinister Russian. The supporting players, especially Robert Morley, E. G. Marshall and Roberts, who is making his screen debut, do a good job. Filmed on location in Austria, "The Journey" is in MetroColor.

THE GARDEN

He Who Must Die (March 22-31) is so good that one respected New York film critic thinks it missed being named best foreign-language picture of 1958 only because it opened in the big town during the December newspaper strike. Based on the novel, "The Greek Passion," by the late Nicos Kazantzakis, the story is set on the island of Crete during the post-world War I Turkish occupation. It is an allegorical tale concerning the fruitless efforts of a modern-day Jesus to practice the Christian ethic against the will of the local church and government.

Pierre Vanec plays the role of the protagonist, an earnest man who is rehearsing for the

Dark But Not Quiet

McCarte Theatre, theoretically "closed for the season," last week was bursting at the seams.

Audree Esley and members of the Ballet Society in rehearsal for their May production of "Hansel and Gretel," were on their toes in their newly-refurbished basement studio. On stage, the University Band was making music.

The principal members of the cast of "Iolanthe," readying for an April performance by the Savoyards, took shelter in the Triangle Club business office, not even a fair-sized triangle itself. Meanwhile, in another part of the basement a group of freshmen enthusiastically put together scenery for the freshman prom. Chances are McCarte has never been busier.

role of Jesus in the town's annual Passion Play and who is thoroughly imbued with the attributes of his prototype. When a band of footsore refugees from a far-off village arrives at the town, the authorities, including the Turkish governor, fear the newcomers will spread the word that the wanderers are afflicted with cholera. The Passion Players discover this is a falsehood and attempt to convince the villagers to do unto the strangers as they would have others do unto them. The local priest heads the opposition to this heretical concept.

"He Who Must Die" was directed and co-authored by Jules Dassin, the expatriate American filmmaker who turned out the half-raising "Bigger" a couple of years ago. He outdoes himself in this one. Cast members include Mr. Vanec, Melina Mercouri and Jean Servais. The film, in black and white CinemaScope, forms an edifying addition to the string of winners which have been on exhibition at the Garden in recent weeks. Recommended.

The Doctors Dilemma. (March 22-28) is produced with such technical virtuosity that its Eastman-colored visual delights tend to overshadow the Bernard Shaw comedy underneath. Leslie Caron is appealing as a young wife who tries to divert the attention of England's leading doctors from herself to her dying husband. But her beautiful clothes and the arty lighting often make the film seem like a succession of stills from

HOP, HOP, HOP

Bunny Parade. Easter is early this year. There are all bits of shamrock under the couch cushions and red hearts behind the piano. You'll find them when you move furniture to hide Easter eggs. A fast, efficient tour of the local egg-and-bunny markets reveals the following:

Viedie's. Fanny Farmer is top chick in this shop. She has half-pound and quarter-pound chocolate nut butter cream eggs all wrapped in Easter paper, and novelties like the two eggs and a bunny in a box and a row of miniature bunnies, six to a box (60 cents).

For an Easter party, buy Costa's ice cream forms made to your order if you allow five days. Lillies, rabbits, baskets, eggs — any of them, much too pretty for a spoon. Decorated ice-cream cakes, too, if you wish.

Tiny jelly beans are 50 cents a pound at Viedie's. Whitman, Sherry, Schraft and Drost go on up from there.

Thorne's: Ole grandpa rabbit himself lives here. He's milk chocolate with vegetable coloring that gives him a wine-red waistcoat, green basket, blue breeches. We thought he was the biggest rabbit in town (14 inches) until we saw one just like him on the other end of the counter. He's 16 inches.

On the same scale, there is a three pound chocolate egg and a five pounder, both by Miss Mint-er. Ostich eggs, these are. You can also buy a good big Easter basket, about 12 inches across, ready packed with jelly beans and chocolate chickens and good green grass. Smaller baskets, too, for the less ambitious.

Stover packs two eggs in a hinged "book" of boxes. One is chocolate and one is pecan-encrusted.

The stuffed shirts at Thorne's include a rabbit (white) endowed with the ability to lift a carrot to his mouth while his insides work away on Brahms' "Lullaby." There are plush chickens and lambs and a particularly fine set of rubber animals by Rempel. These are for very little children and they are colored harm-

No, Thanks

Easter, as it is observed in the candy shops, is mostly for the children. People do not, as a rule, go out to buy a five-pound chocolate cream egg for an adult. The candy bunnies, chickens and lambs, the bright foil-wrapped eggs, the colorful purple and yellow baskets themselves are symbolic of the gaiety and youthfulness of the season and its promise of new life.

We were somewhat surprised, therefore, to find a new molded candy piece this year: a milk chocolate cross. It comes in several sizes, and is decorated in some cases with a garland of candy flowers.

The idea of putting such a thing in a child's Easter basket is jarring, somehow. A devout parent would shrink from it, certainly, and even a parent for whom Easter is merely a celebration of spring-time would surely find it in poor taste.

less so they can be bitten and not bite back. There's a duck, a lamb, chicken, rabbit and a big shiny rubber rabbit.

Louise Maas: Miss Maas thinks the biggest things in Easter goodies this year are the pecan coated eggs, the fondant ducks, and the maple sugar rabbits, for children who can't eat chocolate. She also has a four-inch transparent yellow lollipop rimmed with a pink and lilac candy cane and tastefully decorated with a small rabbit. (35 cents).

A plain wooden slatted egg crate, lined with straw, seems to hold real hens' eggs, and the box itself says "Uova di Giornata." But we've all been fooled. They are chocolate eggs covered with a matte white frosting that fools everybody but the hen. From Italy, six and the box for $1.90.

Louise Maas also has speckled eggs the size of jelly beans by the pound. They have cream centers.

Black Lantern: Chocolate here is all home-made. One piece is a milk chocolate shell filled with grass and any candies you choose. There are big chocolate eggs split neatly in half. You fill them with foil-wrapped eggs or whatever you choose.

Butter cream eggs are 80 cents a pound, pastel Italian cream eggs are 15 cents each and so rich you take only one bite. Chocolate and pastel cream make a Humpty Dumpty. Buy Easter lilies by the pound ($1.40).

Going Down. The Carroll Shop in the Princeton Shopping Center, has a new price policy. At this shop, where modestly priced clothes have always been available, you can now find clothes priced even more modestly. The shop has become an outlet for the chain, and this means that its wares are now sold at a discount.

"Outlet," in case you didn't know, means "discount" in the trade. A "discount outlet" would be redundant and for goodness sake, let's not be that.

Here at the Carroll Shop you can buy, for 67 cents, a sleeveless white shirt, a grey cotton short-sleeved shirt with black squares, a pair of black Bermudas, the jersey to top them off and a cotton bathing suit. That's the rummage table.

On the standard racks, you'll find house dresses for $1.69 and up, in floral patterns, stripes or solids. There's a chipper white sailor overblouse with red tie for $1.89 and an impressive collection of skirts for $2.59, $2.69 and $3.69.

One is a yarn-dyed cotton in bold black and white with fringed pocket. Another, drip-dry, is permanently pleated black and white gingham. A darkly striped full skirt, threaded with gold, has detachable straps that convert it to a jumper.

For a spring ensemble, choose a black and white houndstooth wrap-around skirt with a short-sleeved black cotton shirt, col-

MUSIC In Princeton

THIS CHOIR TO SING

Saturday at 8:15. The Princeton High School Choir under the direction of Thomas Hubbard will present a spring concert this Saturday at 8:15 in the High School auditorium. Mrs. Mabelle McKinney, Princeton pianist and composer, will accompany the choir.

Two major works will comprise the program, "Symphony of Psalms" by Igor Stravinsky, and the "Haydn" "Theresa Mass." Solo parts for the "Theresa" will be sung by Carroll Butterworth, soprano; Julia Bowers, alto; Arnold Uken, tenor, and John Fredrickson, bass.

Written in memory of Maria Theresa of Austria, the Mass is one of six composed by Haydn between 1796 and 1801. The Stravinsky work was written to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Both will be sung in Latin. The choir has recently sung the Haydn Mass before the Music Educators' National Conference in Buffalo. Records of this performance are on sale at the Princeton University Store.

BETHOVEN PROGRAM

Friends of Music Concert. Ronald Jacobowitz will present an all-Bethoven concert for friends under the auspices of the Friends of Music at Princeton this Sunday at 3:30 in Clio Hall. The concert is open to the public without charge.

Mr. Jacobowitz, a graduate student in mathematics at Princeton, has been heard in recital both in Chicago and New York. This will be his third Princeton appearance sponsored by the Friends of Music.

The Beethoven works included in the program will be Sonata No. 5 in C minor, Opus 10, No. 1; Sonata "Quasi una Fantasia" in C sharp minor, Opus 27, No. 2; "Moonlight" Sonata No. 23 in G major, Opus 27, and Sonata No. 32 in C minor, Opus 111.

FINAL CONCERT PLANNED
By Princeton Symphony. The last concert of the current season by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra will be given April 13 in McCarter Theatre. Together with the Symphonic Choir of Westminster College, the orchestra will offer Verdi's "Requiem."

Soloists will be Janice Harzanyi, soprano; Rachel Armstrong, alto; Robert Simpson, tenor; and Herbert Pate, bass. Nicholas Harzanyi is conductor of the Symphony, while Warren Martin directs the choir. The choir has sung in more than 100 performances with the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Orchestra and other orchestras.

his artist's quarters while four doctors stand idly by, thinking reverently that Leslie's impending widowhood is not an altogether unpleasing prospect.

The competent cast is populated with actors well known on this side of the Atlantic—Alistair Sim, John Robinson, Robert Morley, Felix Aylmer, Michael Gwynn and Maureen Delany—and Anthony Quinn seems to have given much thought to his direction of the film. The feeling persists, however, that Shaw's wit might have come through better and the picture were not as self-consciously pretty.

lared and cuffed with the hounds-tooth. It's $6.99, complete.

Classic orlon cardigans and a slippers are $2.69 and $3.69, in pastels or red and white. You can buy slacks up to size 20.

In the lingerie collection, Carroll has Japanese poplin pajamas, cut in the Oriental style with mandarin collar and frog closing. There are full and half slips from $1.47, half slips at two for 43 and panties (silver embroidered or plain pastel) for 87 cents.

Neither Smoke Nor Flame. Pluck has offset bad luck in the Mayme Mend shop burned out in February, the shop moved its clothes — or what remained of them — to 2 Chambers Street, got in some new things and settled down to do business as before.

The shape is smaller, but the spirit is even bigger than before. And before warm weather comes, the shop will be back at 149 Nassau.

In the meantime . . . Davidow produces his version of the Chanel suit. It's a deep rich mauve tweed piped with selvedge and cut with loose cardigan and straight skirt. With it you wear a silk crepe blouse in that indescribable shade of mauve that might almost be called plum. Comes also in a smoke blue that wavers toward purple.

A classic suit with reversed collar and three-quarter sleeves, is belted at the waistline. It has the "short tail" — that is, the short line from waist to jacket that is everywhere this year. The suit is pale blue tweed with a blue and black plaid overcoat to match. There is a beige blouse to go with this one, too.

Down the price line from Davidow is a rose beige wool suit with box jacket, a navy worsted with box jacket and white collar and a fitted classic in violet and a fitted classic in violet and a fitted classic in violet. These for $49.95 and $55. Herbert Sondheim sends around a pure silk shantung which looks like two pieces but is really one. It has three-quarter sleeves, round neck and a wide belt, loose at the lower edge and marked with a single button. Another from his workshop is a chiffon royal, navy and black floral print with a softly pleated skirt, a boat that looks like midnight. It's black, three-quarter sleeves and the air of a moonlight garden.

A coat from Mayme Mend is a loopy kind of tweed. It has an absurd excuse for a belt: just a pair of fringed tabs at the high Empire waistline. Or, if you like navy for spring, choose a basketweave coat with a square collarless neckline and a double row of brushed brass buttons.

GUN-FIGHTER FINED

Fired Blank at Officer. A 41-year-old Philadelphian who fired a blank starter pistol at a policeman on Prospect Avenue during Princeton University's Junior
Prom weekend was fined $200
Monday in Borough Court this week. Frank B. Onley, a textile manufacturer, was found guilty
by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. on charges of assault and battery and drunkenness.

Magistrate Tams said he was waiving a jail sentence on the basis of good character references submitted in Onley's behalf by his neighbors and by Philadelphia police. Onley's wife testified he is "a steady, conscientious worker and a good family man" who "wasn't the same man" on the night of the offense. The On-leys have been married for 18 years and have a 15-year-old son.

Sgt. Peter J. McCrohan testified he arrested Onley on March 7 at Cap and Gown Club when he found the man "peeping" into the club's ladies' room. He said
Onley broke loose outside the

Louis J. Fanget

club and fired the pistol, shouting: "I'm going to kill you."

Sgt. McCrohan said he fired two warning shots from his service revolver before Onley escaped in his car, which was parked nearby. He was arrested several minutes later and charged with careless driving by Township police after his car crashed into a bridge near Kingston. That offense cost him $25 on Tuesday.

Also fined by Magistrate Tams were Wojciech Z. Janicki, 29, of 172 Nassau Street, $20 for failure to give turn signal; Floyd P.
Swart, 23, of 120 Brown Hall,
Princeton Theological Seminary;
$15 for out-dated license plates; and Allen J. Merks, 23, of 11 Dickinson Street, $20 for speeding.

DR. TAYLOR HONORED

Given Cancer Research Grant. Dr. Edward C. Taylor, associate professor of chemistry at Princeton, has received a cancer research grant for the second year from the American Cancer Society. Dr. Taylor is continuing studies considered of great potential significance in fundamental cancer research. The work is being conducted in the Frick Laboratory at the University.

Dr. Taylor, while an undergraduate at Cornell, began the research which it is hoped will lead to more rational approach to the design of effective chemotherapeutic drugs. He is assisted in the work by Dr. Wolfgang Pfeiderer as Postdoctoral Research Associate.

Special Consultant to the National Cancer Institute of the National Institute of Health, and a member of the Chemistry Panel of Cancer Chemotherapy of the National Health Service. Dr. Taylor will present his findings before the April meeting of the American Cancer Society in Atlantic City. Funds for the Society's grants are made available solely through contributions, and the proceeds of the annual National Crusade.

April is Cancer Control Month, when the Mercer County Chapter of the Society will conduct the fund raising drive here. Princeton residents have contributed nearly $70,000 since the chapter's founding; last year's collection amounted to more than $9,000.

Sentence Pronounced

Nine months after the car he was driving brought death to his four young companions, Robert DeSandre of Lawrenceville learned the judge's disposition of the charges against him. Police testified that he was traveling nearly 80 miles an hour when he struck a telephone pole last June a mile north of Kingston on Route 27.

DeSandre was fined $1,000 and placed on probation for five years, during which he may not drive. In addition, Middlesex County Judge DuBols Thompson will recommend that he never again be permitted to operate an automobile. The defendant was given a suspended sentence in Bordentown Reformatory and ordered to report for treatment at the New Jersey Diagnostic Center, Menlo Park. His attorney was quoted during the trial as saying that DeSandre's mental age was less than his 19 years.

Those killed in the crash were Sonja Ann Paulitis, 16, and Marie Ann Fowler, 17, both of Princeton, and John Hudzinski, 15, and Arthur Edmunds, 17, both of Lawrenceville.

Polin of Hamilton Square passed a Sun Oil Company truck driven by E. J. Bender of Trenton. As she pulled back into the proper lane, she skidded and the truck, unable to stop, crashed into her. There were no injuries.

The preceding Tuesday, a Bohrer's Moving and Storage truck driven by Stanley McClenahan of Cranbury, skidded into a pole. On Friday, March 6, two tractor trailers tangled on the same stretch of road and on February 14, John C. Martinelli, 257 Edgerstone, skidded and struck a guard rail.

According to Township police, Mercer County road officials say that cars were allowed to travel over newly-laid stone before it was ready. But police say they kept cars off the new stone until county road foremen told them the road was ready for traffic. New stone was last applied on December 17 and county officials say they will re-do the road when warm weather comes.

George Dixon, sixth grade teacher, and Mrs. Mary Ballard, science teacher, will discuss pupil placement in the fifth through eighth grades.

Celebrating 30 Years in Princeton

Thirty years ago, when Bailey's opened in Princeton, we were in the heart of a depression —1929. The Trenton trolley cars came to Princeton; horses, many pulling wagons, walked along the streets. Buggies still went up and down the streets of our town. Now, all the babies of that year have babies of their own. We have shopping centers, TV and automatic washers. These things were then unheard of. People went out more—to vaudeville shows, movies and dances. They smiled more, and gave of themselves more. Let's, in 1959, show that we too can again smile, and again give of ourselves. In celebration of our 30 years in Princeton, we offer you these wonderful buys—just in time for Easter.

NEW DANCE CLASSES

In Nassau Estates. A new studio, offering courses in modern and ballroom dancing, will open on April 1 in Nassau Estates. The studio will be operated by Mrs. Penny Siebela, 51 Merritt Drive, Nassau Estates.

Mrs. Siebela, whose husband is head of the art department of the Borough Public Schools, taught dancing for six years in Bucks County before moving to the Princeton area. A graduate of Colorado College, she has studied modern dancing with Henny Holm and ballroom dancing with Arthur Murray. Her classes will be given for both children and adults.

Safety Measure Offered

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The following is a thought for greater safety on Washington Road that might be of interest to your readers and the community. The constant danger of fatal accidents on Washington Road, when approaching town by car in the vicinity of Prospect Street, the eating clubs, athletic field, etc., must be in the minds of many motorists as they cross College Road and give their cars extra acceleration in order to get up the hill. The situation has probably been much improved by the installation of the yellow blinking sign, warning of pedestrians crossing, but with a little further thought another could have been erected warning traffic leaving town, intent upon making a train and the like.

Be that as it may, despite the yellow sign, it is still extremely difficult, if not impossible, to see pedestrians crossing Washington Road. This is because the driver is blinded by the overhanging street lights due to his "right" position in the car. Last night I counted these street lights, and I believe great improvement could be made at a relatively low cost if the first six lights after College Road were shielded from the drivers' eyes. I urge the installation of such shielding before accidents occur again, in spite of the yellow warning signal.

To be realistic, we must unfortunately acknowledge the mind of the driver as well as that of the pedestrian, mostly students in this case. Both are pre-occupied, and both are unaware of each other, in spite of the sign. Instead of counting on their sense of preservation, why not take simple, direct steps to improve vastly a potential death trap?

DINNER HELD

By Kingstoo Girl Scouts. The Kingston Girl Scout Troop 61 held a mother-daughter dinner Friday as part of its observation of Girl Scout Week. The preparation of the dinner was part of the troop's work on the cooking and hospitality badges.

After the dinner, the following received their second class badges: Valerie Gayford, Sally Shuke, Sandra Rose, Hattie Melvin, Roberta Wilson, Katherine Katschmidt, Heidi Hofman, Virginia Schmidt Janice Wolf, Susan Fenton, Phyllis Wainford and Kathleen O'Donnell.

With the completion of her tenderfoot requirements, Francilla Pemberton was invested in the troop. Arlene Burnett and Joyce Bastedo were received as new members. The leader of the troop is Mrs. D. E. Mr. Eaton, graduate of Princeton University in 1937, expects to receive his Doctorate in Musical Composition. Mr. Wigodsky, a 1937 graduate of the University of Texas, is scheduled to receive his Doctorate in Classical Studies. John W. Zarker, an alumnus of the Graduate School, now an instructor at the University of Texas, has also received a Fellowship.

BEAVER PATROL EXCELS

In First Aid. The Beaver Patrol, led by Star Scout James Woodward of 27 Southern Way, was declared the winner of Boy Scout Troop 50's first aid contest this week. Second place went to the Black Fox Patrol, led by Star Scout John Bailey of 2 College Road.

The contest climaxed a month-long study of first aid by troop members. As part of the training program, scouts distributed literature on first aid to homeowners and sold first aid kits. Receipts from these sales will be applied to the purchase of camping equipment. Dr. Arthur Mitten, an orthopedic surgeon, spoke to the scouts on first aid problems associated with auto accidents.

ANSWER TO A GROWING PROBLEM: What can Princeton do to keep capable residents interested in seeking public office? Stanley Kline (left), proprietor of a busy Nassau Street service station, and his brother Vernon have thoughts on the subject. For their and other opinions, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: What more can the Princeton community do to encourage able men to run for public office?

Where asked: Around town.

Albert Salamao, Cherry Hill Road, former Township mayor: Get your able men to take more interest in the community. If more able men would attend the public meetings and just see how things are run, I think they would be apt to take more interest. If they are at all interested in the community, they will be able to lay their hands on things which they think could be better run for the community as a whole, and they may think that perhaps they could add something to this by running for office themselves.

Mrs. William W. Lockwood, 71 Jefferson Road, teacher at Miss Fine's School: They should be accorded a salary commensurate with the time they have to put in. You have to put the issues squarely before the people and interest them so the able people will want to get in there and do something. Perhaps if there were more respect and regard accorded to people in public office, the problem might be alleviated.

Charles R. Erdman Jr., 20 Boudinot Street, former six-term Borough mayor: I don't think the community can do any more to encourage men to run for public office. I think that's up to each individual person and his individual feeling for the community. I don't think we've had any real trouble getting able people to run. The list of candidates for this year's elections is certainly representative, for both parties.

Stanley Kline, 271 Nassau Street, service station proprietor: It's hard to say, but one thing is sure—it's not just money. There are a lot of very qualified men in town, but most of them just don't have the time. I don't feel that offering that type of person more money would be the answer. It might help if retired men were encouraged to run for office.

John S. Mount II, 116 Magnolia Lane, Township Committeeman: The most important thing, so far as the Township is concerned, would be for us to consider some means whereby duties of office-holders could be spread out over more time and more people. One of the biggest problems has been that able men already had a heavy burden in their business and private lives, and the difficulties of a growing township added too much to their schedules. However, the Princeton community does give good recognition to officeholders and the two parties work hard at seeking and convincing able men.

William B. Brettnall, 182 Hickory Court, Educational Testing Service executive: A good move would be to find out why so many men refuse to run. I don't think we can really do anything until we find out why. I think people are concerned about the amount of time required in the campaign and in executing the duties of office.

Vernon Kline, 44 Hornor Lane, mechanic: A lot of the problem is probably time. On my street alone, there are seven commuters. They leave for work at 7 and don't get home until 7 at night. By that time, it's too late and they're too tired to do anything more.

Irving W. Merbow, 159 Nassau Street, real estate and insurance broker: Make the conditions for politics depend on ability and not on political concerns. We've lost some very able men who would not run with a political label on them. Both parties should get together and bury their differences. The school board works well together because we are concerned only with the children's interests.

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why TOWN TOPICS carries more classified advertising each week in the year than all other Princeton papers combined.

OFF SHE GOES!

How Many Miles Per Pint?
 Talk about leashed power. A home-built jitney, owned and operated by Richard White, 8, and leased out occasionally and grudgingly to his father, Rudolph, is capable of attaining 30 miles an hour on its lawn-mower motor. But for safety purposes, Mr. White has stepped things down so that the little car actually goes only 10 miles an hour.

The car was built by Mr. White over a four-month period and it was finished in time to be a birthday present for Richard, 8, on February 22, and his little sister Dianne, 5 on February 13.

Mr. White, a Blawenburg resident who is an accountant with the Young Development Laboratories, did most of the work on his all-metal car in the Young machine shop, with the help and instruction of Stephen Binstok, the machine shop superintendent. The all-metal car is six and one-half feet long. Its base is an old slide that once belonged to the White children. Its hood comes from an old pedal car and its wheels from a hardware store. Most exciting of all, it has a transmission with forward, neutral and reverse gears. The transmission is Army surplus.

By moving the gear stick forward or back, the driver can make the car travel forward or back—at 10 miles per hour. For a brake, the driver simply puts the gear into neutral and then into reverse.

To stop his car down from 30 to 10 miles an hour, Mr. White merely changed the size of the sprockets, and if he decides that a faster speed is safe, he can install new sprockets. He made the steering mechanism himself (the steering wheel is a bent piece of copper tubing) and fabricated each part of the car as carefully as though he were making a custom-designed adult car. For example, the wheels are aligned, just as big-car wheels would be.

For ease and economy of operation, Mr. White put his engine in the rear to provide direct drive from the back wheels. Vibration is a problem with these little cars, and to minimize it, Mr. White used rubber between the metal parts wherever he could. He also insured against a one-hoss-shay disaster by using a cotter pin with every bolt and nut.

As a final flip, he made aluminum fins and painted the car bright red.

Young Richard was aware of his father's work on his birthday present, but he did not work on it himself.

"I did let him hold the drill now and then," Mr. White says.

DR. CONANT COMING

To Speak Here In April, Dr. James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard, will speak in Princeton next month at Princeton High School. He will address a public meeting April 16 on his recently-completed study of the American High School with particular regard to New Jersey high schools.

Dr. Conant will come to Princeton under the joint auspices of the PTA of Princeton High School and ETS. This will be the only open meeting which Dr. Conant will address in New Jersey on his findings on the high school research which he first undertook in 1957. The work was forwarded by a grant from the Carnegie Corporation administered by ETS. Dr. Conant, former U.S. Ambassador to the Federal Republic of Germany, made personal visits to schools in 20 states and conducted extensive research into their secondary school systems. He is now making speaking appearances in each of these states to bring his findings before the public.

ROTARY TO BE HOST

To Area Clubs. The Princeton Rotary Club has invited the Flemington, Lambertville, Trenton and North Hunterdon clubs to an inter-city meeting Tuesday evening, May 5, at the Nassau Inn. Dr. Paul R. Chesbro is committee chairman for the event.

Dr. Hadley Cantrill of 124 Mercer Road will speak on "The Workings of the Soviet Mind" at the meeting. A social psychologist, he has recently returned from Russia.

Chester R. Stroup, club president, reports that club members will again assist in handling the parking for the Princeton Hospital Fete Saturday, June 6.

THIS IS A TERRIBLE PAINTING: And it's a terrible reproduction of the painting, but we're not trying to sell the painting—we're just trying to show you how well we clean old paintings. But this print turned out so badly, you can't tell which side is clean and which side is dirty. But if you come into THE LITTLE GALLERY at 39 Palmer Square West, we'll show you the original, and how dirty one side is, and how well the other side is cleaned and restored. THEN maybe you'll take those dirty paintings down and have us clean them for you.

DOCTORS ON THE MOVE
Center at Kendall Park.
"Where's the doctor?" — a frantic question that may be asked dozens of times during the course of a week by the 800-odd families in Kendall Park. In answer, the mushrooming community (which will include another 300 homes by the end of the year) has gained within recent months a complete community medical center, the branchchild of Dr. Benjamin B. Scassera of Princeton. Either he or his "partner," Dr. Frank E. Bristol of Dayton, are at the center six full days a week in addition to Tuesday evenings.
"Dr. Bristol and I met at Princeton Hospital in the fall of 1957," recalls Dr. Scassera. "And I was able to interest him in this project — which has been in the back of my mind for a long, long time."

"Kendall Park was well located from both our points of view, about as far from Princeton as from Dayton, and we've been able to set up here the kind of community medical center I think is the most practical — not an association of specialists who compose most clinics, but a group set up around the general practitioner who can give the majority of patients the medical advice and treatment they need."

Located at 8 Stoneworth Road, the center has on its staff visiting specialists from Princeton Hospital who are available by appointment. They are Dr. L. Ashby Adams, otolaryngology (ear-nose-throat and the larynx); Dr. Louis Fishman, cardiology and internal medicine; Dr. S. Robert Lewis, pediatrics; Dr. Arthur E. Mittnacht, orthopedic surgery; Dr. David B. Miller, general surgery; Dr. Charles H. Place, urology; Dr. Louis Rimon, ophthalmology; Dr. Miriam Rose, obstetrics and gynecology; and Dr. W. G. Scheuerman, neurosurgery.

Priate In Accomplishment. The cheerful rooms of the center contain the latest and best in medical facilities for Kendall residents. Very shortly, sprains, sore muscles and bursitis will be eased by an ultrasonic therapy machine rather than the conventional heat treatment. An electro-surgical unit for cauterization and an electro-cardiogram machine are also part of the center's equipment. The deceptively small building can accommodate three doctors at a time, with its four examining rooms and three consulting rooms.

Complete diagnostic facilities include X-ray equipment and a fully stocked laboratory. The lab is the special province of Miss Genevieve Rossetti, assistant director of the laboratory and X-ray departments, and Mrs. Patricia Serling, who has been Dr. Scassera's medical secretary for four years. The two sortily sisters (Zeta Mu Epsilon) at Rider College designed the laboratory arrangement themselves and personally supervised the installation of equipment last summer.

"A Dream In Action. A native of Rocky Hill and a lifelong resident of Princeton (except for his training at Georgetown University Medical School in Washington, D.C.), Dr. Scassera foresaw the need for "on-the-spot" medical service at Kendall Park several years ago. He has been the family doctor for many of the country families living in Franklin and South Brunswick Townships since he started practice here some 32 years ago. But it became more and more obvious to him that more was needed than what out-of-town doctors could provide.
The essential of his plan was, and is, the general practitioner, and he looks forward to the day when the center will expand to include four GP's on a rotating basis. Dr. Scassera has been active in the American Academy of General Practice which requires 150 hours of post-graduate study a year for membership, and will take office as its president next year.

In expounding the GP's case, he points out wryly that the services of a family doctor are less expensive than a specialist's, and that a good GP can eliminate the need for the use of many different doctors by one family. Dr. Scassera himself delivers over 100 babies a year and handles a multitude of medical problems from that stage on.)

By way of illustration of the faced doctor's usefulness, the good doctor cites with a smile a case he considers typical of the deep-seated (but misguided) belief in specialists. "A lady called the office," he says, "and insist-

Report from THE MAYOR

PROSPECT AND SYCAMORE. Late in 1927 and again on February 3 of this year, the Borough Planning Board discussed the Township's interest in having Prospect Avenue extended from Cedar Lane to Riverside Drive.

The Planning Board voted that the extension of Prospect Avenue should be deferred until an artery or arteries are opened between Hixson Street and Riverside Drive in the Township, "the opening of such arteries being just as important to the Borough as the opening of Prospect Avenue appears to be to the Township." The two Mayors discussed these views and Mayor Fairman has now formally advised the Borough that the Township Committee and Planning Board are prepared to open the parallel street (Sycamore Road, from Riverside to Harrison) "at the same time the Borough opens Prospect Avenue, and we strongly urge," says Mayor Fairman, "that it be done this summer."

Copies of Mayor Fairman's request have been distributed to the Borough Planning Board and Councilmen so that prompt consideration can be given to it. Meanwhile, Township residents have visited the Borough Mayor's open house to strike a note of urgency about the matter, especially in view of the construction of the new Township school on Riverside.

"TELL IT TO THE MAYOR!" The regular weekly open house session will again be held on Thursday evening from 7 to 10 at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal chats.

The views expressed by interested citizens in this way are a valuable supplement to the formal hearings on official business. And more often than not, the problems discussed can be resolved without formal Council action. Many times they can be handled by the staff of the various Borough departments in line with established policy and practice.

P.Y.P. AWARDS. Many Princeton youngsters are looking forward to Saturday night when the Princeton Youth Program awards will be presented at a special dinner meeting at the Princeton Inn. The Youth Program is sponsored by the Borough and Township police officers through their local organization of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

Funds to support the program have come from voluntary contributions of local residents and the P.Y.P. is planning to renew its appeal for an expanded program in the coming year. Certainly the municipal governing bodies are enthusiastic in their support of this work, and it is anticipated that the community will again respond generously to further this effective partnership between our young people and the police.

P.Y.P. 40th ANNIVERSARY. Congressman Norman R. Poyler of Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, has called the Mayor's attention to the fact that the 40th anniversary of the Legion is being celebrated by all the Posts throughout the United States. The Mayors are being asked to call public attention to the anniversary, which serves as a reminder of the civic interest maintained year-round by this group. It will not be many weeks before the traditional Memorial Day parade and ceremonies will again be sponsored by the Legion — just one of the evidences of their continuing interest in fostering patriotic spirit and a respect for the American heritage.

The Princeton Childbirth Education League will sponsor the showing at 3:30 at the First Presbyterian Church. Members of the organization, their friends and children are invited.

Planned specifically to appeal to the young child, the program will also include a cartoon, "Madeline", and refreshments. The program is offered to the community as a public service by the league.

MARCH HADASSAH MEETING

Israeli Speaker Scheduled. The Princeton Chapter of Hadassah will hear a member of the Technion, Israel Institute of Technology, Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Jewish Center. Dr. Yeshayahu Rim will discuss education in Israel. Dr. Rim is presently spending a month at ETS studying methods in testing with a view to inaugurating program for admissions to the Technion from high schools.

A "Tasting Bee" has also been planned for the evening to raise funds for Hadassah Medical Organization. Members of the group will prepare their favorite dishes which the audience may sample and buy the recipes. Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Robert Wessel, Mrs. Seymour Weinstein, Mrs. Edward Gordon and Mrs. Edward Keshinert. The Hadassah Donor-Dinner-Dance will be held April 5 at the Princeton Inn.

ARMCHAIR TRAVEL

For Cub Scout Pack. "A Trip to Canada" occupied the meeting last week of Pack 43, Cub Scouts. Members saw movies of Canada and exhibited totem poles made by the Den.

One-year service stars were presented to Robert Ebbesen, Francis Egan, Peter Lejend, Nicholas Rosso and James Warren. Nelson Rosso received a Bear badge; George Baylor, a Donor badge, and Ray Ashton, gold arrow point.

WINTER WRAP-UP

Between-Season Notes. The first contest of the spring season will be held a week from Saturday when Ferris Thomsen's Ivy champion lacrosse team opens its rugged schedule against the Philadelphia Lacrosse Club. Three days later, very possibly in temperatures as chill as those prevailing Baker Rink, University Field will be the scene of the start of Princeton's 190th basketball season. Williams will provide the opposition.

Meanwhile, captains have been elected for 1960 trophies awarded and intercollegiate championships completed in various winter sports. Action in this phase of the University's nine-month program is finished.

Braegan Twice Honored. The man who will be the keystone of Princeton's bid for Ivy honors next season has already been singled out for unusual leadership abilities. Jim Braegan, 6-1 resident of Lansdowne, Pa., was awarded the Bunn Trophy at the end of the season, thus becoming the fourth player in Tiger basketball history to win the cap prior to his senior year.

The others honored as Juniors were Mike Kearns, 1951 captain; Bud Haabstad, captain in 1955; and Whitley Fulmer, who led the Tigers two seasons ago. Needless to say, Braegan has been named captain of the Tiger quintet for next winter, following one of the best seasons ever credited to a Princeton Junior.

Accorded an all-ivy rating, he compiled a seasonal average of 12.1 and a pair of unusually high shooting averages. From the floor, he hit on 44 per cent of his shots—normally a one-handed push from side-court, although he is also adept at driving in for lay-ups. On the foul line, he made 80 percent of his free throws.

Braegan finished sixth in Ivy scoring and has a two-season total here of 675. He is virtually certain to top 1,000 before he graduates, a mark attained at Princeton only by Haabstad and Carl Betz.

McBride and Cheston Honored. The captaincy of the 1959-60 hockey team went to Johnny McBride, who now ranks as the most prolific scorer in modern Princeton history. The 44 points he collected this season (27 goals and 17 assists) broke both the total-point record held by Bill Gail, who had 40 six seasons ago, and the mark of 23 goals credited to All-American Hank Boddie.

Captain Mc Cheston won the Blackwell Cup for outstanding play and sportsmanship. Cheston, McBride and sophomore Barry Van Gerbig all placed on the second All-Ivy team. Van Gerbig's spot there stamps him as the best goalie who will be in action next season, a big boost for the Tigers' plans to move upward in the final standings.

Wrestler Reaches Finals. Even in points (5-5) with 12 seconds left, Bill Macleer nipped a RECORD-BREAKER: George Brakeley 32, grandson of the University's vice-president emeritus, broke the Princeton record for the 440-yard freestyle Friday in the Eastern Intercollegiate at New Haven. His time of 4:51.1 was 2.6 seconds better than the old record, set in 1956.

chance at the 157-lb. title in the Eastern Intercollegiate last weekend when he suffered a take-down at the hands of Cornell's Steve Friedman.

Macleer finished a fine career at Princeton, one that had seen him go through his senior year unbeaten until Saturday's defeat at Ithaca. Next year's intercollegiate will be held in Dillon Gym, but there is little likelihood at this point that any Tiger entry will go as far as the finals. Macleer was head and shoulders over the rest of the 1959 team in ability.

Fencers Fourth. Princeton's fencing team placed fourth in last weekend's intercollegiate, compiling a 46-point total in the three-weapon event. New York University topped the 11-team field, with Navy and Columbia also placing ahead of the Tigers. Princeton strength was about evenly balanced in the three divisions. The Tigers were credited with 17 sabre points, 18 with the epee and 19 with the foil.

SPRING PREVIEW

No Cause for Optimism. Most Princeton teams will have difficulty winning more than half their games this season, according to early estimates of their current strength. The crew and the track team are in for their roughest going, with inexperience a major problem in both instances.

The lacrosse team has hopes of retaining its Ivy title, but may not win a single game until this portion of its schedule begins. Opponents such as Maryland, Johns Hopkins, Army, Navy and the Philadelphia and Mount Washington Clubs are probably more than the undermanned Tigers can handle.

The golf and tennis teams have a few outstanding players but lack the depth to finish among the eastern leaders. In golf, the intercollegiate are set for the Springdale course on May 9 and 10.

Both teams should finish above the 400 mark, although each will encounter stiff opposition on southern trips before the season opens here. Better-than-average freshman strength leads John Conroy to hope that the Tiger tennis team will make a bid for eastern honors by next year.

BASEBALL TEAM A QUESTION

Tigers Have Veteran Nine. Only two positions are wide open on the baseball team as the Tigers head toward the end of the first century of the diamond pastime on the Princeton campus. The opener of the history-making season is set for March 31 on University Field against Williams, the same college with which the first game was played.

Tom Morris graduated, leaving an outfield berth open. The catching chores were handled by three different players last spring, and that job is up for grabs. A senior, Larry Wolan; sophomores Elmer Naples and Jerry Sullivan; and Bill MacMillan, the latter back from the service, are the primary contenders for the backup assignment.

TOM WELCH
Princeton Swimmer

At New Haven, Conn., Friday night, a Dartmouth swimmer won the Eastern Intercollegiate backstroke title in 2:17.6. When freshman Tom Welch read the news here in Princeton next morning, it must have increased his anticipation of his entry in next year's championships. The 18-year old Andover alumnus has bettered that mark half a dozen times this winter, his top effort reading almost a full five seconds faster.

Welch began setting records at the Massachusetts prep school and the first time he swam here he chopped nine seconds off the mark set seven years ago at the freshman level. His time on that occasion also broke the University record for 300 yards by a second; since then, he has improved on his own performance three more times and now has the record down to 2:12.5.

Welch's presence here is symbolic of the resurgence that is beginning to take shape in Princeton swimming. After years of first-division finishes and the development of numerous Eastern and an occasional national champion, the Tigers' stock in the sport went into a slow decline.

It struck bottom last year (as typified by the first loss to perennially weak Columbia since 1911) and then began to turn the corner this past winter. Classmates of Welch's will lend considerable strength to the varsity next season, where the "youth movement" is further emphasized by selection this week of sophomore Jim Bennett as next year's captain.

Son of a Harvard graduate, Welch lives in Marblehead, Mass. He has a bright future ahead of him, with the University's 200-yard backstroke record virtually certain to be lowered further during his three-year varsity career.

Swimming coach Bob Clotworthy, whose arrival here has coincided with the upward movement of Princeton fortunes in the water, was asked whether he thought a sports-page feature on his freshman star unwise so early in his Princeton career. "Not for a minute," was Clotworthy's reply. "Welch will never be the kind who'll let a few newspaper clippings go to his head. He's too interested in swimming and deserves all the credit he gets."

The entire 11958 infield, Carl Belz at first; Pete Crispo, second; Tom Morris, short; and Gene Locks, third, is back. Of last season's play, however, there is considerable room for improvement in fielding, a weakness that plagued the Tigers all season long and resulted in their committing seven errors in the commencement game against Yale.

Two topflight outfielders returned, Captain Dick Edie in center and Mike Ippolito, who can play either left or right. Both are above average defensively and hopes are that each will top .300 at the plate. Ippolito had four home runs last year and ranks as a fine power prospect.

Herm Belz Heads Pitchers. If 6-3 Herm Belz starts as he finished last season, flashing the kind of ability that beat Yale on successive Saturdays, the Tigers will better their seventh-place Ivy finish of 1958. Belz was impressive as a sophomore, had trouble getting started last spring, often because of the untimely support he received, and then came along well during the latter half of the campaign.

One pitcher cannot win enough games to mean the Ivy title, with nine of them scheduled in a period of five weeks. Support must come from seniors Joe Burns and Bill Woolverton or one of three sophomores who helped the freshmen compile a good 7-2 mark last season.

Princeton unsteadiness on defense was greater last year than in a number of seasons, and when the perennial lack of power on the plate was in evidence again, the team could do no better than win eight of 21 starts. In Ivy action, the Orange and Black was bogged down with a 3-5 mark.

Harvard won the title, and will field a veteran entry. However, in a ten-team league whose championship is decided on a basis of each outfit playing the other only once, anything can happen and the Tigers may field a strong enough aggregation to get back in the running this year.

SCHOOL BASKETBALL HERE

In Dolea Gym, Trenton Catholic will face St. Peter's of Jersey City at Dillon Gym Thursday night at 8 to decide the Catholic Division championship of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association. Championship games in public school groups I and II will be played at the gym Friday and Saturday nights, respectively, between the winners of preliminary contests held earlier this week.

Final-round games for groups III and IV of the public school division will be played Friday and Saturday nights at Rutgers. Championships for Catholic divisions B and C are scheduled at Camden.

CAVALIERS WIN TWO

Will Eoler Tourney, St. Paul's School, which lengthened its winning streak to four this week by routing Holy Angels and St. Vincent de Paul of Trenton, will enter the annual Diocesan basketball tournament in Trenton this weekend.

Danny Corvino continued to pace the Cavaliers' scoring, pumping in 23 markers in the 50-26 triumph over Holy Angels, and 25 in the 57-28 rout of St. Vincent de Paul. In the first game, St. Paul's, sparked by Corvino's shooting and the defensive play of Ed Megna and Kerry Klink, pulled away after an 8-3 first quarter. Megna tallied 11 points in the contest.

Coach Marty Lombardo played his entire bench against St. Vincent de Paul, after St. Paul's surged to a 33-14 halftime margin. The two victories lifted the Cavaliers' record to 9-10. The season closed with a rescheduled encounter with Our Lady of Divine Shepherds on Tuesday.

PHS ALUMNI STAR

Trotman Breaks Two Records, Two former Princeton High school sports stars, Marvin Trotman and Carl Brown Jr., are emerging as top collegiate athletes. Trotman, a new freshman at Elizabeth City (N.C.) Teachers College, smashed two individual records in the CIAA basketball tournament, while Brown, a student at Winston-Salem (N.C.) Teachers College, placed third in the Philadelphia Inquirer indoor track meet against Olympic competition.

Trotman, who played basketball for both PHS and Pennington Prep, scored 45 points in the tournament's quarter-final round as Elizabeth City whipped Delaware State, 105-83. This topped the previous mark of 43 set earlier in the tournament. Trotman's 20 field goals in the contest beat the old record of 17 established in 1954.

Brown, who lives at 28 Birch Avenue, is a member of Winston-Salem's world record-holding shuttle hurdles relay squad, which won the Penn Relays last year. As a junior at Princeton last year, he established a national high school record in the 880-yard hurdles at Madison Square Garden.

A three-way tie for second place in the Tri-County Firemen's League was shattered when Belle Mead (34) jumped into sole possession of the slot, two games behind league-leading Princeton Engine Company No. 1. Kingston and Princeton Junction share third place with 32 victories each. In the Industrial League, Moier & Baldwin (26) retained first place, trailed by Nassau Del (23). Wengryn Construction and Nassau Service, each listing 20 wins, are tied for third place.

At least two men have been assigned to almost all teams, Bergesen said, and fathers of players have offered their services to fill possible gaps. Teams will begin practice shortly in preparation for the opening of the season on April 27.

Men who have taken part in organizational meetings include Bergesen, James S. Hill, W. C. Wilkinson, Bruce Belford Jr., William Barclay, Robert Decker, George Bent, Gilbert Turner, C. W. Bridgework Discussed

In the interests of fuller cooperation between Mercer County and Princeton Township, Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman, Committee-man John H. Mount, Township Engineer Calvin Schofield and County Engineer Edward Mount met together Monday to discuss bridges.

The Township's forthcoming Master Plan will have its eye on several new (or renovated) bridges and Township officials are eager to know how the county feels about the delicate question of "financial participation." This includes building, maintaining, planning and so on. And it includes, of course, roads as well as bridges. The Township also decided it would be a good idea to advise Mercer County about the Master Plan so that county officials would not be over-extended.

The county was, according to engineer Schofield, "receptive and willing to cooperate."

... IT'S EASY TO WOOD PANEL ANY ROOM WITH

PRE-FINISHED PLANKWELD
Ready-to-Install WELDWOOD PLYWOOD

Here is a beautiful wood paneling you can install yourself. Even if you aren't handy, you can panel a whole room in a few hours. And do a fine job, too.

Plankweld is Weldwood Plywood paneling. Faces are already finished - no painting or staining is needed. Panel edges are grooved to fit into clips so nails do not show.

You can put Plankweld right over old walls - no furring or framing is needed. That's why Plankweld is such a wonderful material for remodeling. It's fine for new houses too. The panels are fastened directly to the studs.

By doing the job yourself you can panel any room you want to, and the whole cost will be the modest price of Plankweld alone.
And - here's something you'll be glad to know - Plankweld is guaranteed for the life of your house. No more repairs!
Come in to see Plankweld. We have it in fine hardwoods. See how easy it is - and how inexpensive - to wood panel any room in your house.
Plankweld is 1/4" thick, is easy-to-handle panels 16 1/4" wide by 8 feet long.

If you think early Georgian or late Cape Cod is just the berries, forget we came in. But if you and your kith enjoy plenty of room and light, believe a house should be designed to live in — not merely to exist in, like the idea of getting maximum space per buck, then let's talk. We'd like to explain and show you our concept of a new type of light-hearted living that we deeply believe in — the Techbuilt House.
